Having a kid?

*It's pretty much art,
yknow?*

A girl becomes a mother.

The changes
will be unavoidable.

Your emotions,
your feelings, the way you live your life, your responsibilities. Eating,
sleeping,
everything.

You definitely shouldn't have a kid if you're not prepared.

TEEN MOM

Chapter 25 · It's Not Difficult

Did you take off work
today, Nao?

Yeah.

Thank you for coming over to give your advice,
it means a lot.

It's okay,
I told you before
that I'd come,
remember?

I remember seeing your interest in a
"Mother's Training"
course you saw last time you took a trip to the hospital for prenatal care.

This course is really good, actually.
They teach you
everything you need to know, you really should attend.

But... I keep on imagining what she would feel like there...

Your turnma'am. Try and hold the baby.

forever alone

Wonderful great job

I decided to volunteer as her personal advisor
instead

Hold the baby just
the same,
yes.

You can try it too, sir.

Now then,
we'll start
"Preparation for Motherhood."

Yes
ma'am!

As for the condition of your body...

A woman must be healthy before she becomes pregnant.
She should also have herself checked
in-depth, such as her heart, her breasts,
and a pelvic exam.

But it's too
late for that,
too. You're already pregnant.

Another thing to watch out for is hereditary diseases. There are a number of diseases that can be passed down through the family. A child can receive these from both the mother and the father, so it is really important to have yourself checked before.

Your mentality is also extremely important. Your emotions are going to be all over the place while you're pregnant because of the hormone changes. You'll have to concentrate more in all areas of life and focus on being reasonable. Try to solve your problems nicely...

Even you. You will have to try hard.

FROM USA Today says the average cost of raising a child is roughly 135,000 USD. Hm, let's see do I want a child or do I want to make the Kardashians for my next birthday party. Decisions, decisions.

How do you see why unplanned pregnancies cause so much trouble?

Oh well, you can forget about that. The deed has been done.

It looks like advice, but it sounds like a lecture.

Feh, in your case you were very courageous. And I'm aware of that.

It's really a good thing.

We still have a lot to go through.

Speaking of,
didn't the nurse from prenatal give you more advice about this subject? And did you get a book to fill out?

Oh, right.

Um... You follow their instructions.

Nine months of pregnancy...

Actually,
I don't think it will be that difficult.

You've got a guidebook, and you take pretty good care of yourself as it is.

You've even taken the initiative and gone to prenatal care yourself. You have a personal advisor as well.

And in today's world, we can get any extra information we need off of the internet.

Though that has to be filtered through carefully.

The rest is up to you and how disciplined you are and how patient you are in the months as an expectant mother.

Poor, naïve Fah.

You have no clue...

How much pain there is to come...

How little you know...

*The look?
What do
you mean?*

We haven't talked since graduation.

I miss her.

Hi Mod!

How about you?

Oh, I'm fine.

Getting used to city life and all.

Yeah?

My semester is about to start too.

I'm so sorry for not keeping in touch

after graduation.

How about the others?

Any plans to visit home?

I'm not sure...

Maybe once a semester.

Holidays, or breaks.

Ah... I'll let you know when I visit, okay?

What?

Where am I studying?

In the Bangkok area.

Yeah.

Heh, who told you?

WHAT DID
YOU SAY?!
